Lời nói đầu

Với phương châm “văn ôn, võ luyện” và nhằm giúp các em làm quen với dạng bài thi trắc nghiệm đang được thực hiện ở các kỳ thi tốt nghiệp THPT và tuyển sinh CD-DH, chúng tôi giới thiệu bộ sách “2007 câu trắc nghiệm Tiếng Anh” lớp 10, 11 và 12 theo chương trình mới của Bộ GD-ĐT.

Bộ sách này cung cấp cho các em 20 bài kiểm tra theo sát chương trình học để các em có thể tự kiểm tra, đánh giá cũng như nâng cao trình độ và kiến thức Anh ngữ của mình. Các bài kiểm tra được soạn theo từng bài Test Yourself trong sách giáo khoa. Mỗi bài Test Yourself sẽ có 3 bài kiểm tra tương ứng, bao gồm các phần:

- Phát âm (Sound)
- Dấu nhấn (Stress)
- Từ vựng và nhóm từ ngữ (Vocabulary and Expression)
- Ngữ pháp và cấu trúc câu (Grammar and Structure)
- Đọc hiểu (Reading Comprehension)
- Nhận ra lỗi sai trong câu (Error Identification)
- Viết câu (Writing)

Dù chúng tôi có nhiều cố gắng khi biên soạn, nhưng khó tránh được sai sót. Chúng tôi mong nhận các ý kiến đóng góp xây dựng để quyển sách được tốt hơn ở lần tái bản sau.

Chân thành cảm ơn.

Nhóm biên soạn.

B. LOUIS PASTEUR

In France about seventy-five years ago, a desperate woman brought her young son into the laboratory of Louis Pasteur. The boy had been badly bitten by a mad dog, and a terrible death from rabies was certain to follow.

Pasteur was a scientist. He had saved the silk industry of France ruin by working out a method for prevention of two diseases of silkworms. He had invented a process for preserving food by killing the bacteria contained in it and then chilling it. And, he had discovered a vaccine which protected chickens against virulent attacks of chicken cholera, and another which protected both animals and men from the feared disease of anthrax.

Pasteur had also developed a vaccine which would usually prevent rabies in animals bitten by mad dogs. But the vaccine had never been tried on man. It would be a daring experiment, but the boy had been bitten so badly that he would surely die unless quick action were taken. Pasteur took the risk. He tried his vaccine on a human being for the first time. The boy lived! Thus, a rabies vaccine was given to the world.

Today, Louis Pasteur is considered one of the greatest scientists of all time. Some of his experiments made possible the control of diseases that had cost millions of lives.

As far back as 700 B.C., man has talked about children being cared for by wolves. Romulus and Remus, the legendary twin founders of Rome, were purported to have been cared for by wolves. It is believed that when a she-wolf loses her litter, she seeks a human child to take its place.

This seemingly preposterous idea did not become credible until the late nineteenth century when a French doctor actually found a naked ten-year-old boy wandering in the woods. He did not walk erect, could not speak intelligibly, nor could he relate to people. He only growled and stared at them. Finally the doctor won the boy's confidence and began to work with him. After many long years of devoted and patient instruction, the doctor was able to get the boy to clothe and feed himself, recognise and utter a number of words, as well as write letters and form words.

B. GALILEO

If a big apple and a small one drop from an identical height at the same instant, which one will reach the ground first? Neither! Without air resistance, a large apple will reach the ground no sooner than a small one. Many people find this hard to believe, since it seems to contradict "common sense".

A great Italian mathematician and physicist named Galileo first proved that, without friction, a heavy object and a light one released from the same height will reach the ground at the same instant.

He had begun to suspect that the common notion about heavier objects falling faster than lighter ones was false when he experimented with pendulums. He found that a heavy pendulum swung no faster than a lighter one. Galileo went on to experiment with balls rolling down a sloping plank, and proved that heavy balls reached the bottom, no faster than light balls.

Galileo's investigations with the dynamics of motion revealed another important law of physics: that, apart from air resistance, bodies accelerate constantly as they fall. In a vacuum (where there is no air resistance) a heavy object does not fall faster than a light one: the rate of acceleration (32 feet per second) is the same for all objects. Thus any object travels at the end of its fall than at the beginning.

- 88/ While not directly stated, it may be inferred from the article that ____

C. ELIZABETH BLACKWELL

Elizabeth Blackwell was born in England in 1821, and emigrated to New York City when she was ten years old. One day she decided that she wanted to become a doctor. That was nearly impossible for a woman in the middle of the nineteenth century. After writing many letters seeking admission to medical schools, she was finally accepted by a doctor in Philadelphia. So determined was she, that she taught school and gave music lessons to earn money for her tuition.

In 1849, after graduation from medical school, she decided to further her education in Paris. She wanted to be a surgeon, but a serious eye infection forced her to abandon the idea.

Upon returning to the United States, she found it difficult to start her own practice because she was a woman. By 1857 Elizabeth and her sister, also a doctor, along with another female doctor, managed to open a new hospital, the first for women and children. Besides being the first female physician and founding her own hospital, she also established the first medical school for women.

<V> Reading Comprehension.

Read the passage and choose the word or phrase that best fits each space.

A. NEVER TOO OLD TO LEARN

I have just received a letter from my old school informing me that my former headmaster, Mr Reginald Page, will be retiring next week. Pupils of the school, old and new, will be sending him a present to mark the occasion. All those who have contributed towards the gift will sign their names in a large album which will be sent to the headmaster's home. We shall all remember Mr Page for his patience and understanding and for the kindly encouragement he gave us when we went so unwilling to school. A great many pupils will be attending a farewell dinner in his honour next Thursday. It is a curious coincidence that the day before his retirement, Mr Page will have been teaching for a total of forty years.

After he has retired, he will devote himself to gardening. For him, this will be an entirely new hobby. But this does not matter, for, as he has often remarked, one is never too old to learn.

"The best age to start learning the violin is between three and six," says Margaret Porter, a violinist and music teacher. "It's the time when you are learning about the world." Margaret, who lives in London, prefers to take pupils at three and four, although she has made lots of exceptions for keen five-year-olds. When she started teaching the violin in 1972, her first class consisted of other children's five-year-old school friends.

Margaret's pupils have group lessons. Each group has about a dozen pupils and each lesson lasts an hour, once a fortnight. In addition, each pupil has one individual lesson a week with her. Parents also have to attend the classes. It is important that the parents take an active interest in the lessons.

From the earliest lessons pupils learn to play by ear. They do not even try to read music until they have been playing for several years, and for a long time there is a big difference between their playing and reading of music. Margaret says that her method is not supposed to produce great violinists, and always suggests that pupils who perform particularly well should leave and study the violin using more traditional methods.

88/ What is the writer trying to do in the text?

- a. To explain why Margaret likes teaching the violin.
- b. To describe a different way of learning the violin.
- c. To give advice on how to find a music teacher.
- d. To explain why Margaret has a lot of pupils.

- c. To find out about Margaret's teaching method.
- d. To learn why children should play the violin.

90/ What opinion does Margaret have about her best pupils?

- a. They ought to find another teacher.
- b. They will become great violinists using her method.
- c. They could try harder.
- d. They take several years to learn to read music.

91/ Who were Margaret's first pupils?

- a. Her children.
- b. Three and four-year-olds.
- c. Her own friends.
- d. Her children's friends.

92/ Which of the following would Margaret include in an advertisement for her classes?

- a. Learn to play the violin with your children – 2 lessons a week.
- b. Watch your children learn to play the violin.
- c. Group violin lessons for children – no more than 5 per group.
- d. We'll look after your children while you learn the violin.

C.

Public libraries, maintained by the local authorities, are well developed and progressive, and everywhere allow people to borrow books without charge. The books in the lending section are always kept on open shelves, and library staff are very helpful in getting books on request from other libraries through the exchange system. Most libraries report an increase in borrowing over the past few years, so television does not seem to be stopping people from reading, as it was feared that it would.

93/ It is explained in the passage that any book which is not available in one library _____.

- a. Won't be available at any library
- b. Discourages people from using libraries

B)

Edwin Hubble was an American astronomer whose research led to discoveries about galaxies and the nature of the universe. He settled a long debate by demonstrating that the Andromeda nebula was located outside our galaxy, establishing the islands universe theory, which states that galaxies exist outside of our own. His study of the distribution of galaxies resulted in Hubble's Constant, a standard relationship between a galaxy's distance from the earth and its speed of recession.

By 1925, Hubble had devised a classification system for the structure of galaxies and provided conclusive observational evidence for the expansion of the universe. His work pushed the one-hundred-inch Mount Wilson telescope beyond its capability and provided strong impetus for the construction of an instrument twice its size at Mount Palomar, which Hubble used during his last years of research. The telescope that bears his name was launched on a space shuttle in 1990 and orbits the earth, collecting data about the size and age of the universe.

B)

Nobody knows when fiction began. Maybe the first story-teller was a prehistoric mother trying to explain the world to her children. Or perhaps it was a hunter telling about his adventures around the camp fire. Who can tell? What we do know, though, is that story-telling was a purely oral activity until around 800 BC. Myths and tales were passed down by word of mouth and had to be memorized by each new generation of story-tellers. This oral tradition only changed when ancient people started to keep written records of certain stories. The earliest surviving examples of these are the epics of Homer, a blind professional story-teller, who lived in the eighth century B.C.

- 91/ It is pointed out in the passage that story-telling _____.
 a. possibly began in prehistoric times
 b. was first introduced by Homer in ancient times
 c. began as a written activity in antiquity
 d. became far more popular with the invention of writing

93/ We understand from the passage that, throughout the oral tradition, professional story-tellers _____.

- a. were much respected in primitive societies
- b. were skilful at creating new stories
- c. collected the first stories going back to prehistoric times
- d. used to learn myths and tales by heart

C.

The famous English detective Thomas Wilson was actually a great lover of music; he often played the violin and even composed some music. He would sometimes spend a whole afternoon, listening to music, and this would make him extremely happy. On such occasions he grew gentle and dreamy, quite unlike the sharp, clever and rather frightening detective that everybody knew him to be. But such a mood rarely lasted long; and when it left him he was more alert and businesslike than ever.

94/ The writer describes a side of Detective Wilson's character which ____

- a. he thinks is unsuitable for a detective
- b. eventually led to his downfall
- c. had a bad effect upon his work
- d. was little known by the general public

<V> Reading Comprehension.

Read the passage and choose the word or phrase that best fits each space

A. BRASILIA

Though Brazil is one of the richest countries in the world, much of it has not yet been developed. It was mainly for this reason that the Brazilian government decided to have a new city built 600 miles north-west of Rio de Janeiro. Designed by the great architect Lucio Costa, the new city, Brasilia, replaced Rio de Janeiro as the capital of Brazil in 1960. Brasilia has been carefully planner for modern living. Its wide roads, which can take fourteen lanes of traffic, have been kept away from living areas. Children do not have to cross busy streets to go to school. Housewives can visit shopping centres on foot, for in these specially designed living areas, cars are unnecessary. At first, the government had great difficulty in persuading people to leave Rio and to settle in Brasilia. Since 1960, however, the population has been growing all the time. Brasilia has quickly established itself as the capital of the country. The idea to have the capital moved so far inland will have a great effect on the future of Brazil.

SHARKS

Most people are afraid of sharks, but they usually do not know very much about them. For example, there are 350 kinds of sharks, and all of them are meat eaters. Some sharks are very big. The whale shark is 50 to 60 feet long. But some sharks are very small. The dwarf shark is only 6 inches long. Shark are 100 million years old. In fact, they lived at the same time as dinosaurs. Today, sharks live in every ocean in the world, but most sharks live in warm water. They keep the oceans clean because they eat sick fish and animals. Most sharks have four to six rows of teeth. When a shark's tooth falls out another tooth moves in from behind. Sharks do not have ears. However, they "hear" sounds and movements in the water. Any sound or movement makes the water vibrate. Sharks can feel these vibrations, and they help the sharks find food. Sharks use their large eyes to find food, too. Most sharks see best in low light. They often hunt for food at dawn, in the evening, or in the middle of the night. Scientists want to learn more about sharks for several reasons. For example, cancer is common in many animals, including people. However, it is rare in sharks. Scientists want to find out why sharks almost never get cancer. Maybe this information can help people prevent cancer too.

Hurricanes are violent storms that cause millions of dollars in property damage and take many lives. They can be extremely dangerous, and too often people underestimate their fury.

Hurricanes normally originate as a small area of thunderstorms over the Atlantic Ocean west of the Cape Verde Island during August or September. For several days, the area of the storm increases and the air pressure falls slowly. A center of low pressure forms, and winds begin to whirl around it. It is blown westward, increasing in size and strength.

Hurricanes hunter then fly out to the storm in order to determine its size and intensity and to trace its direction. They drop radiosondes, or instruments for recording temperature, air pressure, and humidity, into the storms. They also look at the size of waves on the ocean, the cloud, and the eyes of the storm. The eye is a region of relative calm and clear skies in the center of hurricane. People often lose their lives by leaving shelter when the eye has arrived, only to be caught in tremendous winds again when the eye has passed.

Disney World was constructed a decade ago on 27,400 acres of partially swamp land in central Florida. Eight thousand of these acres constitute a wildlife sanctuary not accessible to the 130 million people from around the world who have been to Disney World since its opening.

The park opens at 9 A.M. and shuts down at various hours, depending upon the time of year-six, nine, or midnight. On a busy day as many as 90,000 visitors may be in park, but there are so many activities available that there is plenty of room for everybody. The Magic Kingdom is the main section, but there are hotels, restaurants, a lagoon, and a huge lake with four and a half miles of beaches where visitors swim or paddle around in rented boats. A reasonable estimate of the cost per person daily is about $60, excluding transportation costs to Orlando.

People usually sing because they like music or because they feel happy. They express their happiness by singing. When a bird sings, however, its song usually means much more than that the bird is happy. Birds have many reasons for singing. They sing to give information. Their songs are their language.

The most beautiful songs are sung by male birds. They sing when they want to attract a female bird. It is their way of singing that they are looking for a wife.

Birds also sing to tell other birds to keep away. To a bird, his tree or even a branch of tree, is his home. He does not want strangers to come near him, so he sings to warn them.

If a bird cannot sing well, he usually has some other means of giving important information. Some birds dance, spread out their tails or make other sing. One bird has a most unusual way of finding a wife. It builds a small garden of shell and flowers.

<V> Reading Comprehension.

Read the passage and choose the word or phrase that best fits each space.

A.

From as early as the 1920s millions of Americans were moviegoers. In the beginning, movies had simple plots and were quickly over. Often, they lasted only fifteen minutes. The first Western, The Great Train Robbery, had three small scenes – a train robbery, a pursuit on horseback, and a surprise ending where the crook pointed his gun at the movie audience and fired.

During the 1900s, Hollywood and New Jersey were competitors for the movie industry. New Jersey was desirable because so many actors and actresses worked on Broadway, which is near New Jersey. However, all filming had to take place outside where the light was strong enough. As a result, Hollywood, nestled in the hills of sunny southern California, became the better choice for year-round filming.

By the 1920s, Hollywood films became a booming industry. Actors such as Charlie Chaplin were making $10,000 per week instead of a few dollars per day on Broadway. Directors began producing longer movies with more complicated plots. In time, Hollywood stood for films and the rich people who starred in them.

- 76/ According to paragraph 1, what kind of movies were being produced for the general public?
- a. Slow-moving, silent films.
 - b. Black and white movies.
 - c. Short movies with simple story lines.
 - d. Movies that were filmed outdoors.
- 77/ According to paragraph 2, what was the main reason that Hollywood became a prime location for making films?
- a. Southern California has a year-round sunny climate.
 - b. Rich people had moved there.
 - c. The business leaders in the film industry voted to move there.
 - d. The city government promised a tax break if movie companies relocated.
- 78/ According to paragraph 3, what did Hollywood come to symbolise?
- a. The centre of Broadway entertainment.

Buddhists in India. According to Buddhist beliefs, (81) kind of killing is considered wrong and sinful. Thus, chess was actually invented as a substitute of war! No one, however, knows the (82) origin of the game

The (83) chess pieces too have undergone several changes. In (84) times, the king could be captured and the game could still continue. This would not be (85) in today's game. The piece that has undergone the (86) changes is the queen. Today, the queen is (87) as the most powerful piece in the game. In fact, when you lose your queen, you feel (88) you have lost the game already. Back in the old days, however, the queen was the weakest piece on the board. It could only move one square (89) a time.

Today, chess is well-known (90) the world. Thousands of books have been written about this game. Many people, young and old, also take part in chess tournaments.

Most of us are interested in one kind of sport or another, even if we don't go in for it actively. Lots of people take up a particular sport at an early age, for example tennis, skiing, or ice-skating. If they get up to a suitably high standard, they may go in for local competitions or even championships. But special training is hard work and most young people don't keep it up. Many of them opt out when they come up against tough competition.

To become a professional in any sport, you have to go through with a strict training schedule. And it's not easy! It means doing without some of life's little pleasures, too. For example, to build up your physical strength you may have to stick to a special diet and give up some of your favorite foods. Smoking and alcohol are out, and to keep fit you have to work out regularly every day.

Sometimes it all pays off, but the road to success is long and there are no guarantees. No wonder that countless young talents decide to settle for a regular job instead, and, as far as professional sport is concerned, prefer to look on as spectators.

91/ The term of "go in for" means _____.

- a. give up b. participate in c. begin d. like 92/ According to the passage, which of the following statements are false about special training?

- a. enjoying all life's pleasures b. sticking to a special diet
c. eating all kinds of foods d. smoking and drinking alcohol

94/ According to the passage, which of the following statements is true?

- a. Few people take up a particular sport at an early age.
b. The road to success in sports is long but there are guarantees.
c. All of the people who play some sport can go in for local competitions or even championships.
d. There are many young talents who decide to settle for a regular job

B.

In the spring of 1934, storms swept across the Great Plains, but they were not rainstorms. They were the result of sun and drought and a terrible wind that blew millions of tons of topsoil from 300,000 square miles in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and New Mexico. This was the Dust Bowl. It buried fences, fields, and homes. It choked cattle and sickened the people who stayed. Three hundred and fifty thousand settlers fled, many becoming part of a slow, sad caravan along Route 66 to California.

But wind and drought were not the only factors that combined to create the Dust Bowl. Only fifty years earlier, a carpet of buffalo grass had covered the Great Plains, protecting the soil and retaining the moisture in the ground. By the turn of the century, farmers had settled, homesteading the regions that had been used as range land. The increased demand for wheat during World War I encouraged farmers to plow and plant even wider areas. Forty percent of the land that they plowed up had never been exposed to rain, wind, or sun before. When the drought and wind came, the land had been prepared for disaster.

B. ANTARCTICA

Containing 72% of the earth fresh water, 90% of the world's ice, with wind blowing as far as 185 miles per hour, and with temperatures plunging to 100 degrees below zero, Antarctica's landscape is breathtaking, its climate life-taking. For centuries, Antarctica was almost unknown. In 1838, the United States Navy commissioned Lieutenant Charles Wilkies to explore the South Pole near the centre of Antarctica. He saw enough of Antarctica to prove it a continent. In 1911, a British team and a Norwegian team had a race to the South Pole. Five Norwegians reached the Pole first and returned home. The British party froze to death.

Antarctica remains full of mysteries and contradictions. Scientists have uncovered plant, tree and animal fossils of species originally found only in warm climates. Today there are only lichens, mosses, three flowering plants, one herb and two grasses that grow where the ice recedes in the December summer. What triggered the metamorphosis? No one knows.

Antarctica has the coldest temperature (-126.9 degrees Fahrenheit) ever recorded. It contains enough ice to cover the United States with a layer two miles thick. In this, the coldest place on the earth is Mt. Erebus, an active volcano with a steaming, 4,000 degrees centigrade, bubbling lake of lava in the middle.

86/ Why did the British and the Norwegians have a contest?

- a. To explore an unknown continent.
- b. To prove that the South Pole exists.
- c. To measure their ability to resist cold.
- d. To determine which group would reach the South Pole first.

87/ What is the main idea of paragraph 1?

- a. A visit to the South Pole is risky and expensive.
- b. Few plants and animals survive in the bitter cold of Antarctica.
- c. Antarctica is a continent filled with beauty and peril.
- d. Cold, snow and ice are always present in Antarctica.

88/ If Antarctica's climate would become warm, what would most likely happen?

- a. Many places would be colder than they are now.
- b. Some places would be colder and others warmer than they are now.
- c. Antarctica would have a more tropical climate with palm trees.
- d. Coastal areas would become flooded.

89/ Warm-weather species no longer live in Antarctica because _____.

C.

The fourth letter of the Greek alphabet was named after delta. Its sign was a triangle – a three-sided figure. Today the word delta means the triangular group of islands at the mouth of a river.

Deltas are formed by the rivers themselves. Large rivers may carry sand and fine soil as they sweep towards their mouths. Near their outlets, rivers usually slow, and can less easily carry their burdens. Sand and silt are dropped when rivers enter a large-body of water.

Not all rivers form deltas. Oceans currents may be strong enough to sweep the river water away before sand and silt are deposited. Or the deposits may themselves be swept away.

The fertile soil of the Nile delta has made it famous. Man's history in this delta dates back for thousands of years.

<V> Reading Comprehension.

Read the passage and choose the word or phrase that best fits each space.

A. THE CHANNEL TUNNEL

In 1858, a French engineer, Aimé Thomé de Gamond, arrived in England with a plan for a twenty-one mile tunnel across the English Channel. He said that it would be possible to build a platform in the centre of the Channel. This platform would serve as a port and a railway station. The tunnel would be well-ventilated if tall chimneys were built above sea-level. In 1860, a better plan was put forward by an Englishman, William Low. He suggested that a double railway tunnel should be built. This would solve the problem of ventilation, for if a train entered this tunnel, it would draw in fresh air behind it. Forty-two years later a tunnel was actually begun. If at the time, the British had not feared invasion, it would have been completed. Recently, there has again been great interest in the idea of a Channel Tunnel. If it is built, it will connect Britain to Europe for the first time in history.

As viewed from space, Earth's distinguishing characteristics are its blue waters and white clouds. Enveloped by an ocean of air consisting of 78% nitrogen and 21% oxygen, the planet is the only one in our solar system known to harbor life. Circling the Sun at an average distance of 149 million km (93 million miles), Earth is the third planet from the Sun and the fifth largest planet in the solar system.

Its rapid spin and molten nickel-iron core give rise to an extensive magnetic field which, coupled with the atmosphere, shields us from nearly all of the harmful radiation coming from the Sun and other stars. Most meteors burn up in the Earth's atmosphere before they can strike the surface. The planet's active geological processes have left no evidence of the ancient pelting it almost certainly received soon after it was formed. The Earth has a single natural satellite – the Moon.

<V> Reading Comprehension.

Read the passage and choose the word or phrase that best fits each space.

A.

Face-to-face conversation is a two-way process: You speak to me, I reply to you and so on. Two-way (76) depends on having a coding system that is understood by both (77) and receiver, and an agreed convention about (78) the beginning and end of the (79) . In speech, the coding system is the language like English or Spanish; the convention that one person speaks at a time may seem too obvious to (80) . In fact, the (81) that people use in conversations and meetings are often non-verbal. For example, lowering the pitch of the voice may mean the end of a sentence; a sharp intake of breath may signal the desire to (82) , catching the chairman's (83) may indicate the desire to speak in a formal setting like a (84) , a clenched fist may indicate anger. When these (85) signals are not possible, more formal signals may be needed.

B.

Although speech is the most advanced form of communication, there are many ways of communicating without using speech. Signals, signs, symbols, and gestures may be found in every known culture. The basic function of a signal is to impinge upon the environment in such a way that it attracts attention, as, for example, the dots and dashes of a telegraph circuit. Coded to refer to speech, the potential for communication is very great. Less adaptable to the codification of words. Signs also contain meaning in and of themselves. A stop sign or a barber pole conveys meaning quickly and conveniently. Symbols are more difficult to describe than either signals or signs because of their intricate relationship with the receiver's cultural perceptions. In some cultures, applauding in a theatre provides performers with an auditory symbol of approval. Gestures such as waving and handshaking also communicate certain cultural messages.

Although signals, signs, symbols, and gestures are very useful, they do have a major disadvantage. They usually do not allow ideas to be shared without the sender being directly adjacent to the receiver. As a result, means of communication intended to be used for long distances and extended periods are based upon speech. Radio, television, and the telephone are only a few.

86/ What does the author say about speech?

- a. That it is the only true form of communication.
- b. That it is the most advanced form of communication.
- c. That it is necessary for communication to occur.
- d. That it is dependent upon the advances made by inventors.

87/ According to the passage, what is a signal?

- a. The most difficult form of communication to describe.
- b. A form of communication which may be used across long distances.
- c. A form of communication that interrupts the environment.
- d. The form of communication most related to cultural perceptions.

88/ Applauding was cited as an example of _____ .

- a. a symbol b. a sign c. a signal d. a gesture

89/ Why were the telephone, radio, and TV intended?

- a. Because people were unable to understand signs, symbols, and signals.
b. Because people wanted new forms of entertainment.
c. Because people believed that signs, signals and symbols were obsolete.
d. Because people wanted to communicate across long distances.

90/ It may be concluded from this passage that _____ .

- a. symbols are very easy to define and interpret
b. only some cultures have signals, signs, and symbols
c. signals, signs, symbols and gestures are forms of communication
d. waving and handshaking are not related to culture

C.

Do dogs have a sixth sense? Yes, but perhaps not in the way that is generally assumed. There is nothing supernatural in the sensitivities of dogs. They can all be explained by biological mechanisms. For instance, dogs can find their way home from long distances. This ability seems to be based on the detection of subtle differences and changes in the earth's magnetic field.

Dogs are also capable of predicting thunderstorms. When a storm is imminent, they may become intensely alarmed and begin trembling as if in pain. This sensitivity is a response to changes in barometric pressure. It may seem to be meaningless behaviour today, but in the dog's wild ancestry it made good sense to become worried by these climatic signals.

One of the most amazing claims for the dog's sixth sense was made recently by researchers who reported that they had discovered infrared detectors in the dog's nose. This could explain certain abilities previously thought to be supernatural. St. Bernard dogs, for example, are said to be able to tell whether a climber buried in an avalanche is still alive, simply by sniffing the snow. We know that sensitive heat detector exists on the snouts of certain snakes, and this strengthens the case for their existence in dogs. We are still learning how dogs achieve such remarkable feats as have recorded time and again.

- 91/ According to this passage, the sixth sense in dogs is _____.
a. supernatural
b. generally assumed supernatural
c. never explained by biological mechanism
d. appreciated by human
- 92/ It's the detection of subtle differences and changes in the earth's magnetic field that _____.

a. they are beaten
b. they cannot find their way home
c. a storm is going to happen
d. they are in pain
- 94/ What helps a dog know whether a buried person is alive or not?
a. The changes in the earth's magnetic field.
b. The changes in barometric pressure.
c. The supernatural sensitivity of the dog.
d. The infrared heat sensors on the dog's snout.
- 95/ Which of the following statements the author would probably agree with?
a. The behaviour of some dogs during thunderstorms indicates that they are afraid of drowning.
b. Scientists will be able to discover how dogs' senses work.
c. Dogs have more kinds of perceptions than people because they need them.
d. The presence of heat detectors in dogs proves that dogs are supernatural.

A. DREAMS

We have dreams (77) every night. Some of these dreams are remembered vividly. Other dreams, however, are (78) as soon as we wake up. (79) to what some people believe, our dreams are not 'messages' from beyond. Neither do they tell us anything about our future. Instead, what you dream of at night is probably (80) to your experiences during the day. For instance, if you had spent a (81) day at the beach, you may dream about your day's experience as you sleep.

Our dreams may also have something to (82) with our fears and longings. For example, if you long to win first prize in a high-jump contest, you may dream of yourself winning the competition. Finally, our (83) environment may also affect our dreams. If we are hungry, cold or thirsty, our dreams may (84) these feelings. For example, if I sleep in a very cold air-conditioned room I may dream that I am on an (85) to the North Pole.

People known as psychoanalysts study and (86) dreams. For instance, they may say that if you dream of flying in the sky you are a person who desires power. Of course, these interpretations may not be accepted by everyone.

attitude of many race organisers. They complain about the lack of women in the sport but also use this as an excuse for not providing separate changing facilities.

I put up posters and 40 women, young and old, fit and unfit, joined. All of them were attracted by the idea of losing weight but I don't think they had really thought about running before. Where or if they did, they had a picture of painful training. They didn't think of chatting and smiling while running in beautiful places, like by a river.

At first they ran for only a minute – now they can run for thirty minutes. They've also learned from other runners about diet and keeping fit in general. I want to do something for women's running and I have had so much pleasure watching their progress – almost as much as they've had themselves.

It is very important to have healthy teeth. Good teeth help us to chew our food. They also help us to look nice. How does a tooth go bad? The decay begins in a little crack in the enamel covering of the tooth. This happens after germs and bits of food have collected there. Then the decay slowly spreads inside the tooth. Eventually, poison goes into the blood, and we may feel quite ill.

How can we keep our teeth healthy? Firstly, we ought to visit our dentist twice a year. He can fill the small holes in our teeth before they destroy the teeth. He can examine our teeth to check that they are growing in the right way. Unfortunately, many people wait until they have toothache before they see a dentist.

Secondly, we should brush our teeth with a toothbrush and fluoride toothpaste at least twice a day – once after breakfast and once before we go to bed. We can also use wooden toothpicks to clean between our teeth after a meal.

Thirdly, we should eat food that is good for our teeth and our body: milk, cheese, fish, brown bread, potatoes, red rice, raw vegetables and fresh fruit. Chocolates, sweets, biscuits and cakes are bad, especially when we eat them between meals. They are harmful because they stick to our teeth and cause decay.
